About me

I'm a passionate full-stack developer. I mainly focus on backend, but I don't mind doing frontend either. For my projects I usually use Python for the backend and Angular for the frontend. When I'm not deep in web app code I build e-shops using WordPress or Shopify.

Working in a team is as enjoyable for me as a good cup of coffee. Collaborating on projects energises me because we achieve better results together than we ever could alone.
